Why CNB Bank?

There's a culture that comes with working in a small community bank. The atmosphere that everyone will do whatever is needed to get the job done. It's not the job description but the other assigned duties that make it all work. I love working for a company that acknowledges hard work and encourages celebrating co-workers and having a good time.

Meet Meghan Dunn, CNB Bank's AVP & Residential Loan Officer.

Meghan brings 18 years of banking experience to the CNB team with 3 of those in mortgage lending. She is a 2015 graduate of Martinsburg-Berkeley Chamber of Commerce's Leadership Berkeley program and a 2020 Graduate of Leadership Washington County. She is also a 2017 graduate of the West Virginia Banker's Association Branch Management School.

Meghan is active in the Washington County community and serves on the Board of the Hagerstown Neighborhood Development Partnership, is a committee member of the Young Professionals Network for PenMar Realtors, and is a past committee member with the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention. Meghan is known for her easy-going, can-do attitude. She has never known a stranger and Meghan has the ability to make all of her clients feel as if they've known her forever.

Meghan is pulling double duty through Covid-conditions and is home schooling her children while taking mortgage applications! When she's not working to get her clients to the closing table, you can find her outdoors with her family or thanks to Netflix, binge watching old sitcoms. Who else can relate? She's working on her water-skiing and wake boarding skills. Stay tuned for her progress!
